BEHIND THESE DOORS live and work

Built in 1917 the Marion High School building at the top of the hill at the corner of Nelson and "A" Streets acts as center, not only for secondary education, but many adult education classes and civic functions.

the people that are Marion High School

Almost a thousand different personalities including 924 students, 56 teachers and administrators, plus maintenance crews spend at least 8 hours a day for 9 months of each year in these buildings. This is the story of what actually occupies their time and thoughts in and out of school, the things not everyone sees. This is what happens behind the scenes.

School owned Memorial Coliseum is home for the Marion "Giants" and center of boys' athletic training. It also acts as the site for the biggest social events of each school year.

Chemistry students learn distillation of water, one of the many experiments performed in the Chemistry lab.

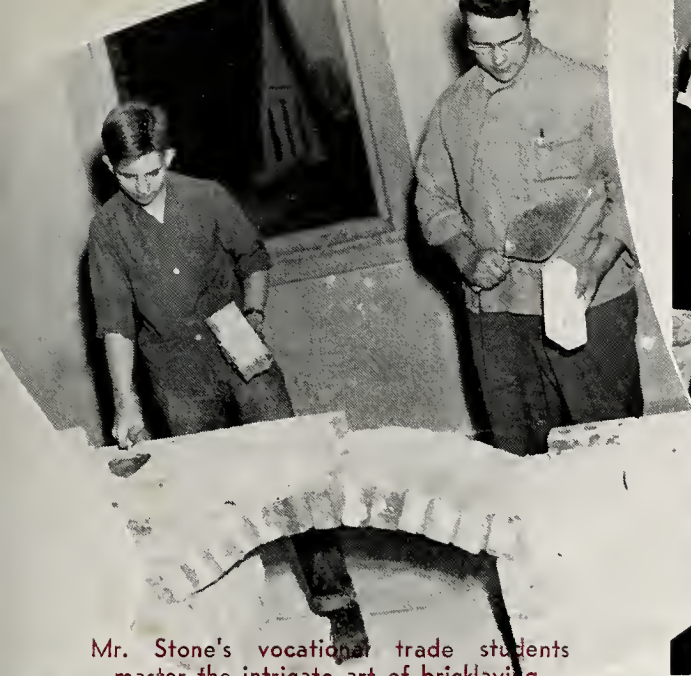

"Pop" Kendall, veteran U. S. History teacher, intrigues classes with talks of the past.

In the newly equipped laboratory, the girls explore the mysteries of nutrition.

Wire recording gives students experience in the fields of speech and dramatics.

Mr. Stone's vocational trade students master the intricate art of bricklaying.

Julie's boys gather round for expert instruction in advanced algebra.

The library, stocked with some five thousand books, provides a well-equipped place for study.

Notebooks, pencils, glue, even Kleenex are among the articles sold at the Student Council P. X. newly remodeled this year.

THIS YEAR . . .

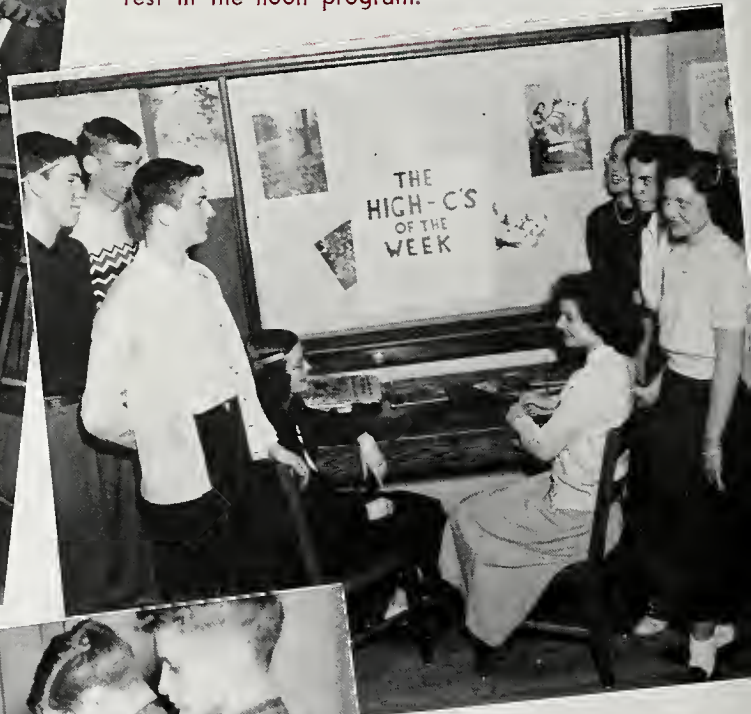

Convocations provided a pleasant break in class routine.

Ping-pong tables got little rest in the noon program.

Modern equipment helped discover hearing deficiencies in student body.

Students found that courtesy pays in six-weeks courtesy program sponsored by the Student Council.

Dr. Long gave students T. B. tests as a part of the school health program.

Learning how the other half lives was the purpose of the hilarious Turnabout Dance.

Marion Music Makers, new dance band, provided "live" music for school functions.

Junior-Senior Prom again highlighted the formal season.

Girls did the honors at Spanish Club's Valentine Dance.

BACKSTAGE students learned fine points

Looking the part required careful attention of costume and make-up crews.

Curtain and light crews learned the importance of split-second timing.

"She Stoops to Conquer", a Restoration comedy, showed Christina Stone pursuing bashful suitor Gene Pinkerton.

Director J. R. Rothhaar read humorous tribute at cast party after the final production.

Jim Drummond as Mr. Hardcastle struggled to be the perfect host to Jay Longacre and Gene Pinkerton.

of dramatic techniques

Traditional favorite, "Why the Chimes Rang", was the Christmas offering of drama students.

Earning points for membership in Mahidra meant fun as well as troubles for stage-struck students.

The mystery in a hatbox provided tense moments in "Night Must Fall"

Perfecting interpretation occupied important rehearsal time.

Murder No. 2, deftly performed by Themis Michos on an unsuspecting Joanne Nelson, brought screams from audiences in "Night Must Fall".

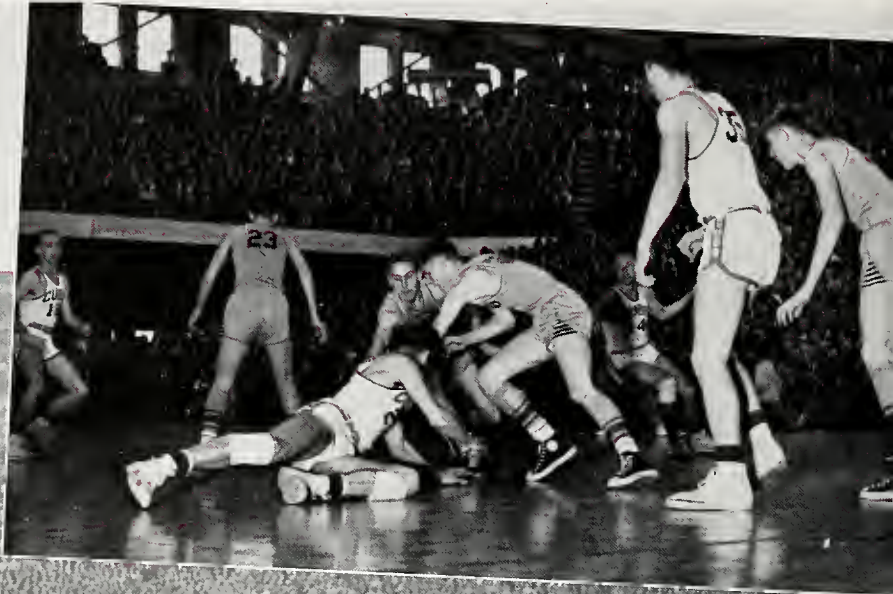

Stage crew members developed new talents in long hours of set construction.

INDIANA MADNESS invaded Marion

Trester award winner, Pat Klein, was named Mr. Basketball for 1950.

Tension mounted as pile-up changed score

Butler field house seethed with emotions as spirits soared and sank to match the score.

at tourney time

Coach "Woody" Weir claimed the basket at regional tourney.

A proud city backed the Giants as they sailed through sectional, regional, and semi-final basketball tourneys to be crushed by a one point defeat at State Finals.

Booster Club tears marked tragedy of one point defeat by Madison.

Honor came to Marion's Pat Klein, named 1950 winner of Trestler award for sportsmanship.

Booster Club "Marion" buttons blossomed on Giant fans.

Regional victory brought smiles to ten Giants.

"Karl", Eddie Ring, and "Katie", Christina Stone, with attendants Bill Shearer, Margaret Cole, Barbara McAtee, Kay Balser, Ruth Ellen Moore, and Pat Smith, viewed the floor show from the throne.

Five minutes to go! Participants felt first pangs of fright and excitement as they waited for cues to go on in floor show.

CACTUS FROLIC takes crowd on tour

Before an audience of 1800 people, Marion High School presented its annual Cactus Frolic on Friday, November 11, 1949, at Memorial Coliseum. The Cactus Frolic is a fund-raising project for the Marion High School yearbook, the Cactus.

Bob Comer, emcee, crowned Christina Stone and Eddie Ring as the typical high school students.

The entertainment varied from booths circling the inside of the Coliseum to a floor show and a dance later. The booths offered candy and flowers for sale, games of skill with prizes, and a white elephant sale.

The theme of the floor show was "Inside U. S. A." The program contained numbers by the chorus and the band and some specialty numbers such as dances, a skating number, and the hilarious high-spot of the evening, the bathing beauty contest. Twelve boys participated in this, wearing "Gay Nineties" bathing suits. Numbers were divided into four acts representing the North, South, East, and West with the finale bringing the audience "Back Home Again in Indiana".

Club members offer colored canes to ring toss players on the midway of Frolic.

Barber Shop quartet, Frederick Murphy, Richard Wolfe, Jim Drummond, and Joe Cain, took audience back to Gay Nineties with their rendition of old-time songs.

"Inside U. S. A."

This year an added attraction was the election of Katie and Karl Cactus, chosen to represent the typical Marion High School students. Voting for candidates was open to all attending the Frolic and ballots were the backs of admission tickets. The boy and girl selected were presented at the beginning of the floor show and reigned over it.

Skaters' Waltz, sequence representing the North, featured Roger Hinkle and Marline Harris.

The Easter Parade

The highlight of the year's social activities at Marion High School has long been the annual Easter Parade. Established in 1934, the event is the climax of weeks of preparation followed by the selection of the queen and her attendants by the student body. Profits from the affair are used to supplement the school's general fund.

Miss Mary James, a senior who reigned as queen, was crowned by Mr. Dean B. Smith, principal. According to tradition, the queen and her attendants proceeded to the throne, where they held court throughout the floorshow.

"Happy Holiday"

Combined efforts of school musical organizations and smaller groups of interested students practicing for three strenuous weeks resulted in a colorful parade of holidays for this year's Easter Parade floorshow.

The gayer side was presented by "I Wuv a Wabbit," an Easter novelty, dance, and "The Irish Washerwoman" a hilarious comedy pantomime. The more artistic was represented by a Valentine ballet done by some thirty girls, and the Witches Wagbery, an elaborate combination of fine band music and twirling skill. Other acts rounded out the year to a final colorful climax of "Auld Lang Syne". Official ending was the traditional queen's dance.

Top: "Clancy Lowered the Boom" captured audience in St. Patrick's Day specialty.

Center: Visions of toys were brought before the audience by 40 skaters in Christmas sequence.

Bottom: Time-out for old fashioned talk was the focus of couples number "Old Fashioned Walk".

FOOTBALL hits rough season

Individual plays rather than final scores could be said to be points worth remembering in this year's football season. The Marion Giants completed a rather hopeless season with an unimpressive record, but marked it with brilliant work on the part of some underclassmen as well as graduating seniors. This seems to point to a future Giant team of outstanding merit.

Probably the highest spot in the Marion record was the Huntington game lost by only one point.

Fans will long remember such plays as Smith's 40 yard sprint through the defense of Tech. of Indianapolis, North Central Conference Champions, after intercepting a pass. An outstanding performer for the Marion team might be said to be Cantrill Gulliford, who provided much of the running, kicking, and passing for the Giants before he was sidelined by an injury.

CROSS COUNTRY makes star showing

After a month and a half of intensive training, the Giant Cross Country team traveled to Indianapolis, to defeat Washington of Indianapolis in their first meet. The Giants seemed to take this win to heart and came out of the season with an 8-1 record. The Anderson Indians were the only team to defeat the Giants in the regular scheduled meets. The team also added laurels to their crown by placing third in the conference and sectional meets.

Chief point getter for the Giants this year was Duane Bishir. Bishir paced the Giants through most of the season winning several blue ribbons. He was the only Giant to run in the state cross country meet.

Tabbed as a team cellar-bound in the NCC race and entering the season with a host of inexperienced men, the Weirmen rounded into shape in time to exert a sustained drive in the closing stages of the season which netted them a spot among the 1950 state finalists. The Giants blasted all opposition in the IHSAA carnival before bowing to the brilliant, title-bound Madison Cubs in the first game of the finals, 50 to 49.

Giant Captain Pat Klein received the Trester sportsmanship award after the final game as a night-cap to his sparkling performance in the afternoon contest and went on to be elected "Mr. Basketball" by Indiana sports scribes. Klein scored a MHS record shattering 403 points in 28 games and extended the mark for most points in a single game to 28.

The Weirmen waddled through a twenty game schedule, spilling ten opponents and biting the dust a like number of times. Inconsistency marked early Giant performances, and they spent most of the season playing tag with the .500 percentage mark with which they suspended hostilities. The first few games featured lineup jugglings and miscellaneous experimentations by Weir, and the mentor babied the goalers through the last half of the year, shrewdly priming them to hit their peak at tournament time. Marion gained momentum through the latter part of the season and finished sixth in the Conference standings, aided by a home record which indicated only one loss on the Coliseum boards.

The usual starting lineup included Klein and Norman Edwards at forwards, Francis Fisher at center, and Dean Vogel and Jim Barley at guards. Chester Jones, Ed Bick, Ronnie Montgomery, Bob Casey, and John Banter formed the reliable bench brigade.

The Little Giant B team, hampered with a constantly shifting personnel, could muster only seven wins in 17 contests; however Coach Clem Woltman's charges should furnish valuable material to next year's varsity. The usual lineup featured Andy Wyckoff, who led the scoring with 92 tallies, and Bob Bradford at forwards, Bill Wharton at center, and C. W. Perry and Don Weber at guards.

TRACK TEAM marks up fine record

While many people consider track as an "individual" sport, Coach Ray Sears and his assistant, James Murphy have promoted it as a team sport. Training rules are strict, and each event requires hours and hours of patient practice.

At the beginning of the season Marion started out well by scoring impressive victories over Kokomo and Muncie in dual meets and Huntington and Peru in a triangular meet.

After the usual preliminary meets, the Giants entered the Delphi Relays, placing a decisive first. Close on the heels of the relays came the North Central Conference meet in which the Giants gained fifth place in the high competition, being outscored by Anderson, Tech. (Indianapolis), Muncie and Frankfort in order.

Following the Conference meet, Marion placed second in the Sectional at Kokomo and the following week they qualified three men for the State finals at Butler Field, Indianapolis. The three making the Indianapolis trip were; Duane Bishir in the mile run, Ed Bick in the 440 yard run, and Cantrill Gulliford in the hurdles. Bick and Bishir automatically placed in the main events by their performances in the regional meet but Gulliford was obliged to tryout in the forenoon before entering the finals in the afternoon.

Outstanding in the year's performance were Cantrill Gulliford in the high hurdles, Ed Bick, who twice broke his own 1949 record in the 440, Ron Bishop in the 220, Harry Hahn in the high jump, and Freddy Mills and Duane Bishir in distance. Jim Coleman, who transferred from Anderson, added depth to the squad but was unfortunate in being unable to participate in several meets because of injury.

Joan Hedges reigned as 1950 Track Queen, with Katie Flook and Ann Finley as her attendants.

The B team gave promise of a successful track season next year, as several promising prospects for varsity appeared on the horizon during the season. The squad ended the year with a "better than average" record.

Hurdle-jumping Gulliford goes over the timbers.

Assistant Coach Jim Murphy and Coach Ray Sears.

BASEBALL TEAM bats good average

A group of battle hardened veteran underclassmen and seniors brought Marion High School its most successful year in the diamond sport since its inauguration here several years ago. Under the able direction of Joe Bell, who prepared his charges with a summer of American Legion baseball, the Giants waged a strong bid for the conference title and remained in the thick of the battle to the end.

The 1950 squad showed remarkable improvement in the department usually lacking in high school nines - hitting power. The Bellmen proved adequate in this department and backed up the offense with tight defensive units in both the infield and outer garden.

Seniors Ed Ring and Tom Kelham formed the nucleus for the pitching staff. Outstanding was sophomore Art Herring, who notched several impressive triumphs. Gene Howell, southpaw, did excellent relief work.

The usual lineup consisted of Pat Klein at first, Bob Gowin or Milt Hawkins, at second, C. W. Perry at short, Norm Edwards at third, Ken Ohlemeyer, Derrill Smith and Andy Wyckoff in the outfield, and Algie Carter or Don Bradford behind the plate.

A "B" team was formed for the first time.

GOLF TEAM makes good showing

The Marion High School golf team has had a successful season this year, winning more meets than they have lost.

Coached by Woody Weir the boys spent hours of practice on the Country Club course perfecting wood and iron shots for the frays. There was keen competition for the five available positions, but Johnny Grubb, Phil Broyles, Fred Edwards, John Foster and Jay Longacre survived as the varsity team.

Marion has developed several good golfers in the past, and the 1950 team was one of the most successful. The Marion team will lose three members this year, but with interest in golf growing and two veteran members remaining, it should not be too difficult to produce a winning team in '51.

TENNIS

This year another sport was inaugurated at Marion High. Under the guidance of Mr. Dwight Hutcheson, twenty boys have been playing tennis on an intramural basis.

Since Marion has only one tennis court, the Giants cannot enter into Conference tennis competition until next year, when the JAC Courts at Matter Park will be completed.

Although this sport was in the experimental stages this season, plans for continuing it permanently have been advanced.

CHEERLEADERS

Precision timing and originality were characteristics displayed by this year's cheerleaders. Among their novelty yells were: T-E-A-M, Rag Mop, and Let's Fight. At Indiana University they attended the annual Cheerleader's Convention, with their sponsor, Mr. Bernard Carmin.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

Intramural basketball season opened early in November and lasted until February 22. The teams were divided into two divisions. Each team playing the teams within its own division several times during the season. In this manner a winner of each division was determined and these two teams participated in a tournament game to decide the winner of the league.

The Kingpins won the tournament; the members of this team were boys who had been candidates for the Marion B team.

GIRLS SPORTS promote physical fitness

One year of physical education is required of all physically fit sophomore girls. Girls are taught better sportsmanship, leadership, and respect for authority through games played in the classes according to the seasons of the year. In football season different types of kickball, soccer kickball, soccer baseball, and kickpin are played. Other activities include marching with stress on correct posture and body carriage, relay games, volleyball, and basketball.

This year as an addition to the regular girls program, square dancing, singing games and dance steps were taught.

Locker room gossip was a daily preliminary to gym classes.

Basketball fever invaded girl's gymnasium.

Make-up work assignments were required for all absences.

Folk dancing provided fun as well as grace to enthusiastic participants.

in active games program

Each year an award of five dollars is given to the girl who, in the opinion of her classmates, best meets certain qualifications of sportsmanship and physical well-being and who has completed the required two semesters.

The classes also helped in arranging dances for the Easter Parade.

Volleyball continued to hold prominence as the most enjoyed sport for girls.

Mrs. Boxell, with pen in hand, made daily attendance checks of sports-minded girls.

Exercise helped to keep the figure trim.

CACTUS yearbook records year's activities

This year, work on the Cactus was done mostly in room 400 where a new class in yearbook journalism was organized. Heading the staff were Mary James and Margaret Huff as co-editors. Business manager was Phil Fowler, and circulation manager was Robert Comer. The advisers for the Cactus were Miss Dorothy Martin, who instructed the class, and Mr. B. H. Penrod, experienced Cactus adviser for many years.

"Cactus Tuesday" became a familiar phrase as the staff launched its subscription drive and introduced the installment plan for buying the Cactus. Every other Tuesday from November 1 to January 31 was set aside as payment day.

The Cactus Frolic, which was given November 11 at the Memorial Coliseum, provided basic funds for the Cactus.

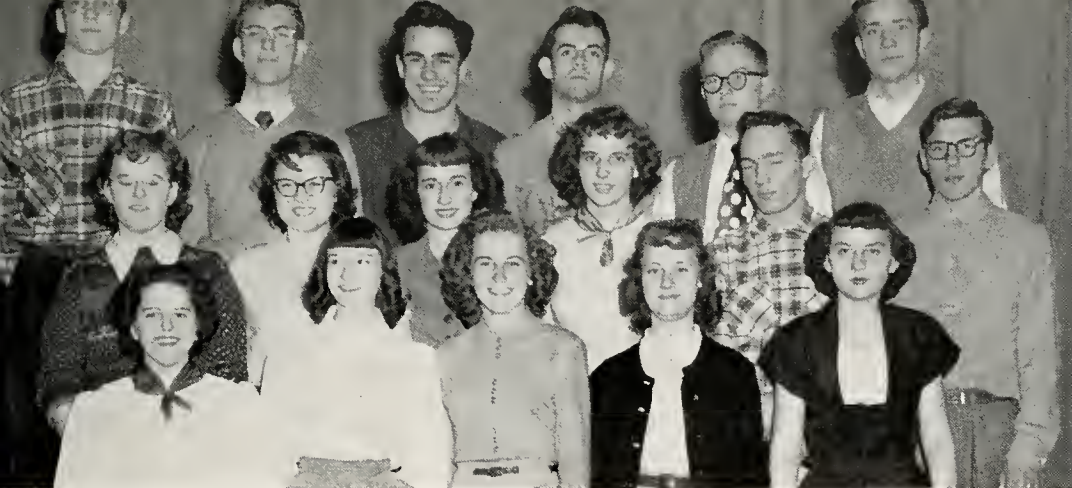

A new sparkle was added to the book by the printed end-sheets, the fads and fashions page, and the new division page treatment with sketches by Phil Pierce under direction of Miss Grace Cleveland.

SURVEY covers school news weekly

Marion High students were kept informed on all school events by the Survey, student newspaper, published weekly throughout the school year. Under the sponsorship of J. R. Rothhaar, the publication got under way early in the year with a near-record number of subscriptions sold.

An experiment never before tried in the management of the Survey was made possible the first semester by the large journalism survey class. With the aim of providing new features and a new slant on the news every week, the staff was split into two groups. Donna Long and Themis Michos acted as editors for alternate issues. Michos assumed full time editorship the second semester with a streamlined staff. Additional features were the Comp Corner and pictorial coverage of events by students.

Adviser J. R. Rothhaar with staff member Margaret Chambers checks for follow-up stories.

Joanne Pulley, T. McCarthy, and J. Walker make up the dummy for next week's issue.

Proof-reading is chore of R. Morris, R. Monks, C. Stone, and P. Hickman.

HI-Y entertains state conference

Playing host to the Older Boys conference provided a focus for activities this year. Some 450 HiY members from all over Indiana enjoyed a weekend of meetings and parties with local Hi-Y members acting as guides.

Hi-Y boys were also seen carrying blankets around the Coliseum during the Polio Drive to catch donations tossed by basketball fans. As usual, Hi-Y members provided coat checking service at the Cactus Frolic and Easter Parade.

Other activities included after game dances sponsored by the Hi-Y to help celebrate victories or console fans after losses and to provide funds for further activities.

The Hi-Y presented the first program for Courtesy Six Weeks using as their theme "Clean Speech."

An impressive initiation service in October reminded members and guests of the Hi-Y purpose, "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

Ray Sears served for his fourth year as an active sponsor of the group.

LATIN CLUB interprets the ancient world

Inauguration of a new point system for SPQR members was one of the highlights of club procedure this year. In order to be eligible for active membership, students in the club were expected to help their organization in at least one specific way.

One hundred thirty-six members enrolled in the club this year. Parties and programs were held in November and December. The club sponsored the "Latin Leap", an all-school dance, in March. Climaxing the year's activities was the May Breakfast.

Officers elected for the year were: Consuls—Christina Stone and Richard Brunt; Quaestors—Barbara Ginsberg and Joan Carpenter; Aediles—Dollie Bridgewater, Jay Longacre, May Alice Walter; Tribune—Virginia Spaulding. Sponsor of the club was Willard E. Batson and co-adviser was Miss Gladys Neal.

SPANISH CLUB furtheres Pan-American relation

The Spaniards actively developed good will by presenting a Pan-American Day Dinner and auditorium program May 12. Other activities included a lecture on Mexico by Miss Case in November, a Christmas potluck in December, an indoor picnic in January, and publication of a Spanish newspaper. Business meetings were held the first Thursday of every month. A "Turn-about Dance" was featured February 14.

Officers installed at the first meeting were: Joan Crimmins, president; Joe Cain, vice-president; Susan Wiesler, secretary; Ruthalice Hood, treasurer; and Jackie Roush, program chairman. Miss Dorothy Case was sponsor of the club.

SHUTTERBUGS learn photographic technique

Shutterbugs kept busy entering national photographic contests, going on field trips, preparing exhibits, and attending classes in fundamental photography. A darkroom with full equipment made it possible for the members to learn the process of printing films. Pins were awarded when members earned the required points. These points were based on attendance at meetings, special work, and recognition in contests entered. Prize winning pictures of the year were displayed at the spring dance.

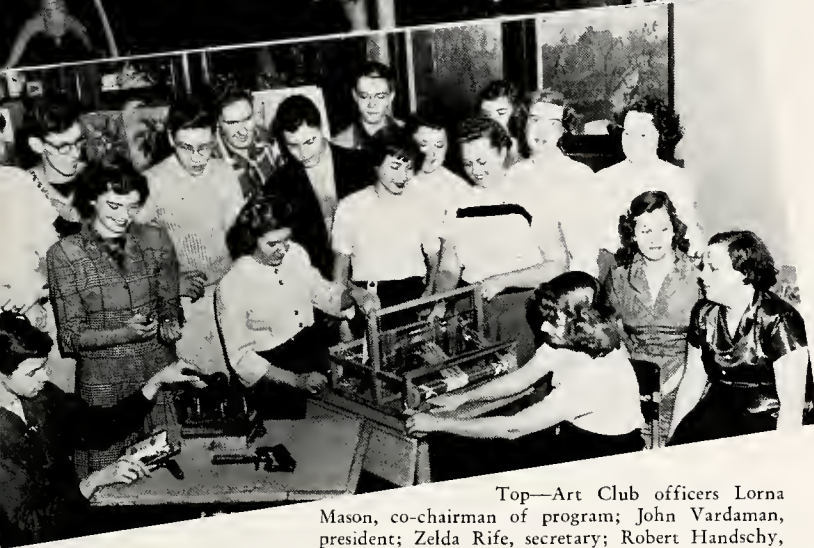

The officers of the club were: Phil Fowler, president; Robert Stirnitzke, vice-president; Carol Fogle, treasurer; and Phyllis Boxell, secretary. Co-sponsors were Mr. Aaron Adams and Miss Marion Breadheft.

USHERS CLUB

In its third year at Marion High School, the Ushers Club again provided efficient service at high school and community programs.

The qualifications for membership require that the applicant be a sophomore or junior and know the seating arrangement of the Marion High School auditorium. Courtesy, competence, and poise are the final factors in determining the members, who are judged by former members.

BUGOLOGY CLUB

Bugology club members investigated the private lives of insects, studied heredity, and other branches of biology outside of school as well as in the classroom. The meetings featured adult speakers, movies, and reports by club members. Hikes were prepared as logical spring activities. The club also adopted what is believed to be their first formal constitution.

The officers were: Dane Breedlove, president; Yvonne Willhite, vice-president; Becky Stout, secretary; and Donna Fisher, treasurer. Minor officers were: James Shields, education committee chairman; Ruth Davis, recreation committee chairman, and members of the Board of Advisors, the governing body. Mr. Keith Stroup and Mr. Clair Stafford were co-sponsors.

ARCHERY CLUB

Cupid isn't the only one that holds a corner on shooting arrows. The archery club has, as its purpose, to promote and stimulate archery at Marion High and to maintain high standards of sportsmanship. The club met and practiced every Thursday evening in the girls gym.

The officers were as follows: Keith Stroup, range captain; James Winters, assistant range captain; Betty Bell, secretary; Jack Deal, treasurer and Mr. E. J. Tillett, the adviser of the Archery Club.

STUDENT COUNCIL SENATE

STUDENT COUNCIL governs student policy

The Student Council was composed of representatives elected from each home room and senators elected at large in each class. There was one sophomore senator, two junior senators, and three senior senators.

The activities of the Council began with a dance welcoming the sophomores. The next project was the annual talent search in which the winners appeared on a talent broadcast.

Operations Vittles, a drive for canned food for the Family Welfare Society was climaxed by a school dance with the admission price a can of food.

A six weeks courtesy program, conducted at the beginning of the second semester was carried out with cooperation of the Hi-Y, Y-Teens, sophomore, junior, and senior classes under the supervision of the Student Council. Each week the most courteous boy and girl were selected.

HONOR SOCIETY selects active students

Membership in the National Honor Society is based upon four principles, Character, Service, Scholarship, and Leadership. Students having a scholastic average of eighty-eight are eligible for election to the club. Of those qualifying, five percent of the senior class was chosen by their classmates and the faculty on the basis of the other three standards. Initiation was an impressive ceremony in February.

This year the Society, sponsored by Miss Dorothy Case, had forty-one members. The officers were president, Gene Peden; vice-president, Themis Michos; secretary, Marilyn Jeffery; and treasurer, Eugene Swain.

MAHIDRA sponsors drama

One hundred hours of painting flats, setting up the lighting system, or rehearsing lines for actual production is required to enter Mahidra, the school dramatic organization. The main purpose of the club is to promote dramatics for both the school and the public.

John Grubb acted as president, with Phylis Fowler as secretary, and Mary Alice Walter fulfilling the duties of treasurer.

Mahidra's fall production was "She Stoops to Conquer", a restoration comedy by Oliver Goldsmith. Through the combined efforts of seniors and Mahidra members, the Senior Class Play "Night Must Fall", a psychological melodrama by Emlyn Williams, was given in the spring.

Assistant Charles Emrick, band director Phillip Polley, and orchestra conductor Lloyd DaCosta Jones plan program for Four City Music Festival.

The orchestra, made up of 23 students, was, again this year, under the direction of Lloyd DaC. Jones. Its purpose was to give high school students a chance to display their instrumental talents and to participate in musical affairs.

The activities this year included the Concert, December 18, with the chorus and band; Concert, March 24, again with the chorus and band; and the Four City music Festival at Kokomo, which was directed by Fabien Sevitzyky of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. Also participating in this festival were the bands, orchestras, and choruses of Logansport, Peru, and Kokomo. Participation in the Easter Parade was again part of the year's duties for this group.

Daily practice resulted in a well co-ordinated band under the direction of Mr. Phillip Polley, who with assistant Mr. Charles Emerick, kept the band supplied with a well-rounded program including not only playing for football and basketball games, Cactus Frolic, Easter Parade, the Hospital Day Parade but also the Concert, December 13, the Huntington Concert on March 8, and the Four City Festival held in Kokomo on May 5.

In addition to the customary three sections the full band, the pep band, and the concert band, a new dance band called the "Marion Music Makers" was organized this year under the direction of Mr. Emerick.

In the spring junior and senior students who had been in the band 2 and 3 years received customary awards.

ADVANCED CHORUS attracts vocal talent

Director Miss Virginia Spencer watches as girls' trio consisting of Gretchen Brunt, Betty Conn, and Marilyn Rust rehearse, accompanied by Joan Simmons

One of the three music groups in the high school is the Advanced Chorus, directed by Miss Virginia Spencer. It is composed of members carefully selected through try-outs. Membership is not restricted to seniors, but is open to all students.

In addition to providing music for the school programs at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter, the Chorus gives many programs outside school. This year they sang at Washington, Martin Boots, Easter Lenten services, Holy Week services, P. T. A. Council, and many other places. They also formed a bright spot at the Cactus Frolic and Easter Parade.

Along with the band and orchestra, the Chorus each year attends the Four City Music Festival, which this year was held at Kokomo. Also with the band and orchestra they gave a Winter and Spring Concert.

The members of the chorus are chosen to represent this section at the State Choral Festival at Indianapolis.

BOOSTER CLUB cheers teams on

The Booster Club, made up of 100 girls dressed in gold slip-over sweaters, made their appearance at basketball and football games in a block 10 square. This year they met 76 times including the basketball tournaments. The climax of the year's activities was the attending of the state basketball finals in the Butler Field House.

Organized in 1946, the Booster Club has for four years followed very closely its constitution, "To support and serve our athletic department and the school in general. Regardless of win or lose, fullest respect shall be paid all sports participants if they be either on the Marion High School team or on the visiting team."

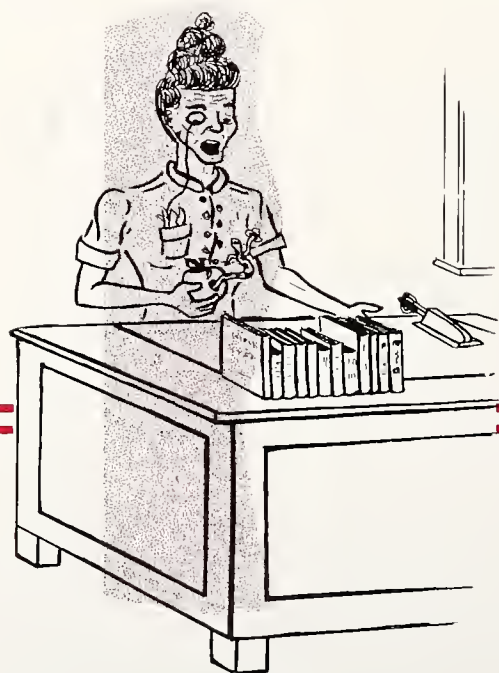

The club has no dues. However, each member bought her own sweater. During the year the club also took part in pep sessions, sold badges, made shakers, decorated and served at athletic banquets, and supported the first appearance this year of the real-live "Giant" played by John Vardaman.

ADMINISTRATION

ORVILLE J. HOOKER, Superintendent of Schools
B.S. and M.S., Butler University

Under the direction of Orville J. Hooker, superintendent of schools, the superintendent's office located in the high school building is the center for integration of all city school affairs and their relationship to the community.

This year, teachers of Marion High participated in several enlightening "busmen's holidays." In addition to the annual state teachers' association meeting in Indianapolis during October, teachers traveled in February to Purdue for a day's conference of city teachers with others from communities in Northern Indiana. In March, in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce, teachers were instructed and entertained for a day by local businessmen in their respective plants and factories. Teachers learned not only processes employed in manufacturing but the many opportunities offered young people in Marion, along with employment procedures used in selection of personnel with the hope that such information could lead to better integration of education and business in Marion. A mental health clinic in April brought authorities on psychiatry to Marion to provide instruction for teachers in how better to understand themselves and to help students solve adjustment problems. Such programs have added greatly to progress of education in Marion.

BERNARD CARMIN, Dean of Boys

Bernard D. Carmin, dean of boys, assumes not only the usual duties of checking credits, attendance, counseling and handling discipline cases but works in close connection with the athletic program of the school. As sponsor of the Booster Club, Mr. Carmin helped bring about the debut of the Marion "Giant" as mascot for our basketball games this year. Mr. Carmin holds degrees from Marion College and Indiana University with additional work at Northwestern.

Dean B. Smith this year completed his second year as principal of Marion High School. Through his office pass adjustments of curricula to meet changing needs of pupils and the community along with other matters pertaining to management and the smooth running of Marion High School. Such an activity occurred when ninth grade pupils and parents were invited to the high school for a preview of high school opportunities and requirements. The activities calendar on the principal's office wall assures keeping dates of school affairs, athletic events, and convocations well-planned in advance.

DEAN B. SMITH, Principal
A.B., Manchester; Ph.M. University of Wisconsin

MISS GLADYS NEAL, Dean of Girls

Under the direction of the dean of girls, Miss Gladys Neal, girls receive guidance not only in curriculum selection but also in the solving of personal and social problems. Placement of students in jobs and guidance in selection of suitable colleges are handled in this office. Miss Neal acts as sponsor of the Student Council and sponsors the Other-Y's service group of the Y-Teens.

Miss Neal received her A.B. at Earlham and M.A. at Columbia with additional work done at the Universities of Chicago and Michigan.

Future plans are discussed by the class officers, Ronald DeWalt, treasurer; Eddie Cole, president; Marilyn Jeffery, secretary; and John Banter, vice-president.

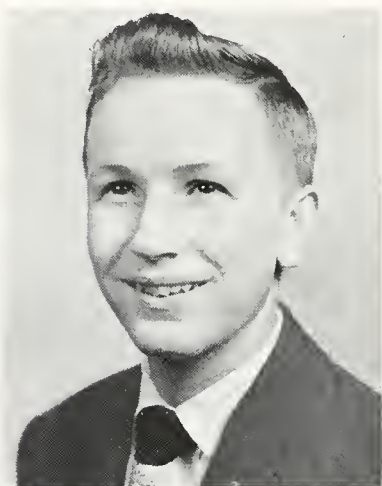

The class sponsors were Miss Marjorie Connelly, and Miss Ethel Renbarger.

The big moment arrived! On went the senior cords and the class of 1950 started its final year at Marion High School.

Following the election of officers, various committees were appointed by the president to plan commencement and other social activities for the year. Measurements for caps and gowns were taken in December; an after game dance was sponsored by the class in January; orders for namecards and invitations were taken in February; a courtesy program was presented in March; Senior Banquet was served May 23, and Baccalaureate was held May 28.

Activities were climaxed on June 1 by the annual Commencement exercises and, on June 2 by final report cards.

Seniors, faculty members, and other school mates mourned the untimely death of Bobby Joe Dovin on Easter morning, April 9, 1950. His friends will particularly remember his cheerful greeting, "Hi there, what ya doing?" or his quick bit of wit. His smile for everyone will be noticeably absent when the gang gets together.

Underclass

Juniors

Junior officers were Dean Vogel, vice-President; Eugene Pinkerton, President; Gretchen Brunt, Treasurer; Mary Bell Herring, Secretary.

Class sponsors were Mr. Clair Stafford and Miss Mildred Aveline (not pictured).

"Wanna buy a pencil?" Selling basketball schedule pencils was the first money-making project for the Junior Class. In March the class sponsored a movie, "Jungle Book", as an additional source of income, well attended by students as a welcome relief from class work. Highlight of activities was the annual Prom presented by the Juniors on May 26 in honor of the Seniors. Juniors cooperated with the Student Council Courtesy Six Weeks by sponsoring one of the weekly programs.

Persuasive Junior Salesmen convinced students they should buy "Giant" pencils.

The major dance of the year, the Junior Prom, required many hours of "behind the scenes" labor on decorations.

Gene Howell and Pete Melendez showed studied concentration on a game of shuffleboard.

Class officers were Lindley Wagner, president; Zelda Rife, treasurer; Mary Lee Comer, secretary; and Janiece Crimmins, vice-president.

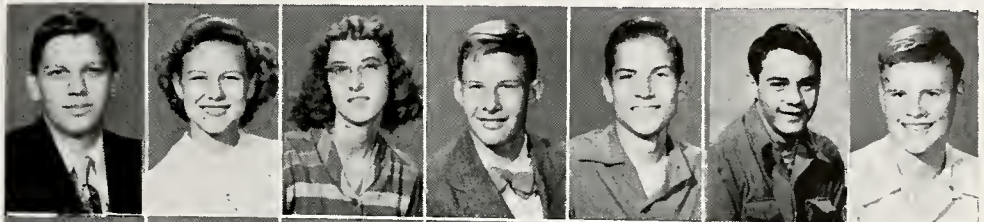

Miss Marion Breadheft and Mr. E. J. Tillett served as class sponsors.

"Excuse me please, but where can I find_____?" These were the most common words in the sophomore vocabulary during their first confusing weeks at M.H.S. With the help of their sponsors, Miss Marion Breadheft, and Mr. Elbert Tillett, the class soon elected its officers: Lindley Wagner, president; Janiece Crimmins, vice-president; Mary Lee Comer, secretary; and Zelda Rife, treasurer. In keeping with tradition, the sophomores decorated the Christmas tree in the main hall. In February they sponsored a courtesy program which featured Mr. L. V. Phillips, commissioner of the Indiana High School Athletic Association. Bringing their activities to an end the class elected its attendants for the annual Easter Parade.
